A new concept for drawing:
Draw together with a robot.

*boys included if cool enough

This robot is a graphbot. It can draw on its own or be guided by a person. You just place it on any piece of white paper and turn the robot on. This will give you total control over the robot. You command it by using your voice. The robot can detect the edge of the paper and will not draw on the surroundings. It's an entertaining toy designed to make creative images. The possibilities are endless. You can use it to make a large poster, as there is no limit in the size of the paper.

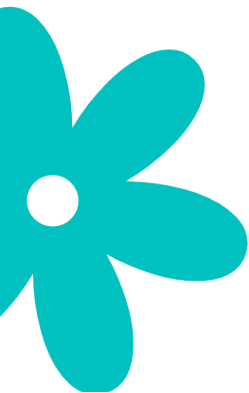

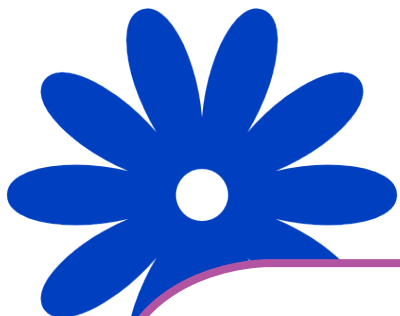

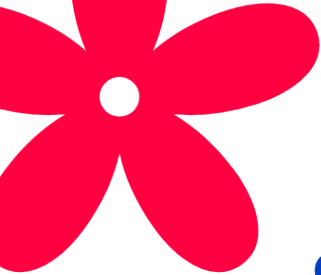

The robot works on soundinput. You can control it with your voice. You can influence the robot by talking to it. This way you can create the most amazing drawings.
